

City of Williamsburg Neighborhood Guide

Your Resource Guide to City Programs & Outreach Activities

Mayor
Jeanne Zeidler

January 2004

Dear Citizens:

To provide useful and current information to residents of city neighborhoods and their neighborhood associations, the city has created an inventory of programs and outreach activities. The Neighborhood Guide, designed as a reference tool, provides concise information to assist citizens in accessing programs and activities from city government.

In 2003, the city responded to both a federal and state initiative known as "Citizen Corps." As part of this initiative, neighborhood volunteers were recruited to participate with the city in a coordinated neighborhood response system. The Neighborhood Guide complements the Citizen Corps initiative.

The Guide does not provide information on all the municipal services offered by the city. Instead it provides information identified by City Council, the Neighborhood Council of Williamsburg and city staff as particularly important and useful to the quality of life and protection of neighborhoods. The guide lists entries under nine categories:

- Guarding Safety and Security
- Preparing for and Responding to Disasters and Emergencies
- Controlling Nuisances
- Preserving Property and Buildings
- Protecting the Environment and Maintaining Public Facilities
- Caring for Neighbors in Need
- Providing Venues for Neighborhood Meetings and Activities
- Partnering with Other Localities to Provide Intergovernmental Services
- Communicating with Residents

Each entry provides a statement of purpose, lists the elements included in the program, and provides staff contact information for further explanation or questions. To maintain accuracy, the guide will be revised periodically.

The City of Williamsburg Neighborhood Guide is available in the City Manager's Office at 401 Lafayette Street (220-6100), or on the city's website at www.williamsburgva.gov. City Council and city staff encourage comments and feedback on the Guide at anytime.

Emergencies such as terrorism, fire, hazardous materials spills, power outages or those caused by natural disasters such as tornadoes and winter storms can happen anywhere to anyone. Even disasters such as hurricanes and flash floods can affect most regions of the state.

Stock Emergency Supplies and Assemble a Disaster Supplies Kit

Keep enough supplies in your home to meet your needs and those of each family member for three to five days. Assemble a Disaster Supplies Kit with items you may need in an evacuation. Store these supplies in sturdy, easy-to-carry containers such as backpacks, duffel bags or covered trash containers.

Include:

- Three-to-five-day supply of water (one gallon per person per day) and food that won't spoil. Include a manual can opener.
- One change of clothing and footwear and one blanket or sleeping bag per person.
- A first aid kit that includes your family's prescriptions and medications. Include contacts or an extra pair of glasses.
- Emergency tools including a battery-powered radio, flashlights and plenty of extra batteries.
- An extra set of car keys and a credit card, cash (small denominations) or traveler's checks.
- Sanitation supplies including toilet paper, soap, plastic garbage bags and disinfectant.
- Special items for infant, elderly or disabled family members.
- Important family documents in a water proof container. Keep the originals of all important financial and family documents in a safe place. You will need accessible records for tax and insurance purposes.

Know What to Do in an Evacuation

1. Listen to your battery-powered radio and follow the instructions of local emergency officials.
2. Wear protective clothing and sturdy shoes.
3. Take your Disaster Supplies Kit.
4. Listen to your battery-powered radio or car radio and use travel routes specified by local authorities—don't use shortcuts because certain areas may be impassable or dangerous.
5. If you do not own a vehicle or drive, learn in advance what your community's arrangements are for those without private transportation.

Know What to Do if Informed to “Shelter-in-Place”

Local officials may ask residents to shelter-in-place during a chemical or hazardous materials emergency. This means you must remain in your home or office and protect yourself there.

1. Lock all windows and exterior doors and close vents and fireplace dampers.
Turn off all fans and heating and air conditioning systems.
2. Get your disaster supplies kit and make sure the battery-powered radio is working.
3. Go to an interior room without windows that is above ground level.
Some chemicals are heavier than air and may seep into basements.
4. Using duct tape, seal all cracks around the door and any vents into the room.
Include spaces around pipes.
5. Listen to the radio or television until you are told all is safe or you are told to evacuate.

What to Do if an Emergency/Disaster Strikes

1. If the disaster occurs near you, be prepared to give first aid and get help for seriously injured people.
2. If the emergency occurs while you are at home, check for damage using a flashlight.
Do not light matches or candles or turn on electrical switches.
3. Check for fires, electrical and other household hazards. Be aware that spilled bleaches, gasoline and other liquids may produce deadly fumes when chemicals mix, or be a fire hazard. Get advice from the local fire department on how to clean up spilled liquids, especially if there are noxious fumes.
4. Sniff for gas leaks, starting at the water heater. If you smell gas or suspect a leak, turn off the main gas valve, open windows and get everyone outside quickly.
5. Shut off any other damaged utilities. Know in advance how to shut off all utility valves and the electricity.
6. Plan to take pets with you if you need to evacuate. Do not leave them behind. If you do not need to evacuate, confine or secure your pets (they're frightened, too, and may run away or bite someone).
7. Check on your neighbors, especially those who are elderly or disabled.
8. Call your family contact – do not use the telephone again unless it is a life-threatening emergency.
